fight is not over, and as long as there is life there, hope.

Others Hurt Only Slightly.
All of the other men injured in the accident are progressing favorably, none of them having sustained dangerous injuries. J. H. Ward, who was severely bruised and shaken up, was removed from his room in the DeGraft building early yesterday morning in an ambulance.
George Buckley, who was thrown nearly 50 feet, sustaining a severe cut on the left side of his head and many minor cuts and bruises, is getting along as well as could be expected. His injuries, though serious, are not considered dangerous.
Philip Abernethy, although suffering from a ruptured knee cap, and many bruises, reported as usual at his regular work at the Owl Drug company yesterday. He left the city for Wichita, Kansas, last night. He had been in the city only two weeks, and it is said that he had planned to return within a few days. It is stated that he had planned the trip before the accident, having purchased the ticket on Monday.
It developed yesterday that James English was not one of the occupants of the motor car, as had been at first reported. As a result, English proved to be the ninth member of the party.

CHEROKEES ARE PROGRESSIVE

Thousands of Redskins in Indian Territory Exercising Right of Ballot--Ross Talks.

Some highly interesting facts in connection with the advancement and civilization of the Cherokee Indians in Indian Territory, were given yesterday by S. W. Ross, a resident of the Cherokee reservation in that territory, in an interview with a representative of The Gazette.

Mr. Ross said:
"Today, for the first time in the history of the Indian Territory, thousands of Indians are exercising their rights as citizens of the United States and casting their ballots for or against the constitution of the proposed new state, and in favor of the Republican or Democratic candidates for state, county and township offices."

"The Indian Territory comprises the eastern half of the proposed new state, to be known as Oklahoma. In the boundaries of Indian Territory are various small remnants of once powerful aboriginal tribes, as well as what are known as the 'Five Civilized Nations,' viz., Cherokee, Chickasaw, Choctaw, Creek and Seminole. Each of these large Indian nations has long since laid aside the excitement of warfare and the chase, and entered the path of progress and civilization."

"But of all these nations, the Cherokees are now, as they have ever been, the most advanced and progressive. They early came in contact with the white race, and in their own territory, they occupied the mountainous region of the Atlantic seaboard, and their first contact with men of European blood was in 1540, when De Soto's expedition, on its way to the interior of the new continent, passed through their mountain country. All through the colonial period, the Cherokees are often mentioned by the historians of the United States as the American confederates. As allies of the colonists, they often rendered aid in defeating the hostile warriors of other tribes by whom the early white settlers were harassed. During the Revolution the Cherokees remained faithful in their allegiance to Great Britain, but when that great conflict was ended, they entered into a treaty of peace with the new government. This first treaty was concluded in 1785, and is known as the treaty of Hopewell. It was signed by the commissioners by whom the Indians were persuaded to treat with the new government, ratified by congress and accepted by President Washington."

"Since that time various other treaties have been entered into by the Cherokees and the United States government. Their last large conflict with the United States occurred more than 100 years ago. As early as 1820 they provided for public schools. In 1847 their national legislature appropriated funds with which to erect two high schools, which opened in 1850. One is still open. In 1821 Sequoyah, a full-blooded Cherokee genius, invented an alphabet, which gave to thousands of his people the key to learning, and opened for him the merited title of 'the American Cadmus.' The story of the Cherokees, if told at length, would form some of the most interesting chapters in the history of the great republic."

ROASTS RAILWAY RATE

Commission Accused of Making Schedule Too High.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 17.—Ex-Congressman A. J. Hainer, attorney for the creamery companies in the recent investigation of rates, today denounced the rates announced yesterday by the state railroad commission and insisted that the companies would appeal to the courts for protection.
"The rates are extortionate," he declared. "They will mean an extra expense of $22,000 per year to our company."
The rates complained of were announced yesterday by the commission and were the result of an extended hearing on the request of the railroads for an increase in cream rates.

MUST COLLEGE PAY?

WANTS FREE WATER COUNCIL IS IN A DILEMMA.

Revised City Ordinance, Passed Last Provides for Assessing All Consumers.

The city council, and especially the water committee, is in a dilemma with regard to supplying water to Colorado college. The institution has been getting its water free for years, but the revised ordinance, passed last April, provides that all consumers of water must pay the regular rates, therefore, and a schedule is included in the ordinance.

President W. E. Slocum of Colorado college, together with President T. J. Fisher of the Chamber of Commerce, President S. D. McCracken of the Merchants' association, President E. W. Kent of the Real Estate exchange and A. G. Sharp, representing the Clearing House association, held a conference with Chairman C. T. Fertig of the water committee, in his office Monday morning. President Slocum was supported by the officers of the commercial organizations, representing practically the entire business interests of Colorado Springs. His request for free water for the educational institution.

The matter came up in council several weeks ago and is practically in the hands of Chairman Fertig. He explained to the delegation that the aldermen are friendly to the college but that the provisions of the ordinance cannot be evaded. The ordinance provides for the payment by educational institutions of 15 cents per term for each student in attendance. In addition, the regular building water rent must be added, which will necessitate a payment of several hundred dollars per year by the college.

Alderman John Hill, during a discussion of the matter in council, when the question was laid over, said that he was in favor of assessing the college the full sum, and giving the amount back as an outright donation, rather than canceling the charge in the first place. By this means the ordinance would be lived up to, and Colorado college would not suffer.

An amendment to the ordinance, exempting the college from water rent, is another proposed solution of the difficulty. The business men of Colorado Springs are practically without exception, strongly in favor of any action that would give free water to the institution.

THE BOHEMIA AT THE ALBANY
In the Very Heart of Denver Seventeenth and Stout Streets.

The most unique cafe, where you will meet the men and women of Denver who enjoy the Bohemian style of life; where you will meet men identified with all the great and growing industries of the great and growing west; where you will find ladies enjoying an after-noon luncheon or an after-theater dinner, and with this meal enjoying a small bottle of rare old vintage.

The Bohemia is unique and peculiar in all that applies to a cafe. Just this much ought to bring you to Bohemia, at least to look it over. It is so different from the average cafe. Every one feels at home and everyone has the feeling that Bohemia belongs to himself or herself individually, and there is not a moment but what there is something interesting.

Every attendant in Bohemia is alert to make every course, whether expensive or inexpensive, perfect in every particular.

Then there is the Grill, for gentlemen only, where you may get your chop or steak sizzling, and your ale or beer drawn from the wood, and again the service—you may spend 50c or 75c—more if you like, or less the service is the same.

After an evening spent in Bohemia you retire with nothing but pleasant dreams of the Bohemia, the Albany and Denver.

PROHIBITION CLUB ORGANIZED DINNER IN HONOR OF COLTON

Will Carry on Active Campaign in El Paso County—Temperance Workers Meet.

The El Paso County Prohibition club was formally organized at yesterday afternoon's session of the conference of temperance workers, which opened yesterday morning in the First M. E. church in this city. The officers of the new organization, which has for its object the extending of temperance work in this county, are as follows: J. H. Ketchum, president; Dr. F. C. Chamberlain, vice president; Helen E. Shinn, secretary; B. O. Weaver, treasurer; the Rev. E. Evans, corresponding secretary. A large number of members were enrolled, and much enthusiasm was displayed.

The principal address of the day was made by the Rev. C. H. White. The discussion on "The Best Form of Literature" was opened by the Rev. W. C. Walcott, and many suggestions were made by other presenters. E. Taylor, state secretary, delivered an address in which he explained the "Verano" and other plans for successful campaigning in the prohibition field. Resolutions were adopted pointing out the necessity for more thorough work by all citizens who are opposed to the liquor traffic, enumerating the many evils that arise from it, and calling upon all who have the best interests of the county at heart to join in the movement and become members of the new organization.

The Robley male quartet gave an extensive and interesting program at the evening session, during which several members were added to the club.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY WEST MINSTRELS

One of the greatest attractions in minstrelsy this season is the Wm. H. West Big Jubilee Minstrels which comprise fifty of the leading singers, comedians, dancers and musicians obtainable, carrying as they do a great scenic equipment as well as the most elaborate and costly stage and street wardrobe of any company in minstrelsy. There are 12 noted vocalists with this superb organization headed by the marvelous tenor, Rosewell J. Wright, Lloyd Balliet, James Cantwell and Wm. Renaud whose names class them the best of the vocal features, being classed as the highest and of the highest order. Comedy contingent is headed by the well known southern minstrel, Mr. George Van, who is ably assisted by ten representative exponents of the black face art. The performance is always absolutely clean, pure and wholesome in every respect, embracing many new and novel features which never heretofore have been introduced by a minstrel organization. The company will appear at the Opera House next Monday evening.

"TILLY OLSON COMING"

Of the recently produced stage successes, none have received more favorable comment than the diverting comedy of Swedish-American life entitled "Tilly Olson," which comes to the Opera House next Saturday, matinee and night. The story is written around the character of a flaxen-haired young Swedish girl "bound out" to a family of farmer-folk in Minnesota. She is subjected to the usual indignities common to girls in her position in life, but withal is bright and lovable, and liked by everyone except the mistress of the house. She develops strength when the opportunity arises for her to show her mettle, and exposes villainy and achieves success by reason of her shrewdness and wise discernment. Tilly is not a caricature, but a cleverly sketched Swedish girl of real flesh and blood. A splendid scenic equipment for the play has been provided, and the new part will be played by a competent actress of eccentricity, Miss Aimee Commons, who is admirably fitted by both nature and training to give a sympathetic performance of this role. Popular prices will be charged for this engagement.

OLGA NETHERSOLE IN CARMEN

Olga Nethersole will pay her second visit to this city next Tuesday evening at which time she will present "Carmen" at the Opera House. Arrangements for this engagement, it may be interesting to Colorado Springs theater-goers to know that the grandmother of Olga Nethersole, the great English actress, was a Spanish lady. Perhaps it was the Spanish blood in her veins that led her to favor the strongly emotional roles with which her name as an actress has been identified. Perhaps the Spanish blood is responsible for that Southern type marked in her languishing eyes. At any rate, it is known that "Carmen" is one of the roles Miss Nethersole delights in and one of those in which she is best accepted by her audiences. Last August she went to San Sebastian, Spain, to see a bull fight and to study Spanish types. While there she obtained some new and startling innovations which she will introduce into her performances of "Carmen." Miss Nethersole's summer home is at Biarritz, France, just at the north base of the Pyrenees mountains. She made the tour from Biarritz to San Sebastian in her own automobile, and states that it was one of the most delightful she ever had. While in the Spanish city she took a great many photographs and those of the bull fight are especially interesting. The sale of seats for the engagement here of Miss Nethersole will begin at the box office next Friday morning. Prices of admission will be as charged last season.

Secretary of International Y. M. C. A. Committee to Visit Colorado Springs Next Week.

A dinner in honor of the secretary of the International Y. M. C. A. committee to visit Colorado Springs next week, was given by the board of directors of the Colorado Springs Y. M. C. A. at the Adams hotel next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The dinner will be attended by many members of the Y. M. C. A. and friends.

NEWS OF LOCAL COURTS

Probation Officer William Kessner has received several copies of the Daily Pickings, published by the Institute of the State Industrial School at Golden. The issue of September 11, just received, contains editorials on the sugar beet industry and the recent ocean record established by the ship Lusitania, together with many items of interest to the boys of the school.

One item, headed "Foolish Boys," is as follows: "A young man who thought he could have his mother support him in idleness, has been brought to this school to at least give the mother a chance to support herself unaided by his presence. Too bad."

Similar sentiments appear, showing the splendid effects of the reformatory.

After being out three hours, the jury in the district court in the case of Charles Phillips, brought in a verdict of guilty last night, finding him guilty of burglary without force. The prisoner was remanded to jail pending sentence. He stole a number of articles from the Victor rooming house.

C. B. Thompson, accused of a felonious assault, changed his plea from guilty to guilty in the district court yesterday, and his attorney filed a motion to quash the indictment, attacking the constitutionality of the criminal assault statute. This case is similar to that of F. C. Dockstader, whose case the supreme court ordered retried.

The jury in the case of G. E. Linton, charged in the district court with receiving money by false pretenses, was discharged yesterday. Its members being unable to agree after being out 24 hours.

The case against C. E. Hollingshead charged with burglary, was called by the district attorney yesterday because the peace officer who found over the prisoner omitted to include the charge in the proceedings.

Henry Weiss filed suit in the district court against the Manitou Bathing company, alleging to be due for material furnished.

William Rogers, who was arrested by Policeman Miller Monday evening and placed in the patrol wagon only after a stubborn fight, was fined $10 and costs for begging and resisting an officer by Magistrate W. H. Gandy yesterday. Rogers will work out his fine on the rock pile.

Mrs. G. Fitzsimmons of Pueblo, who claims that she is heiress to an English estate worth $100,000, was in the city yesterday and requested Chief of Police W. S. Reynolds to aid her in returning to England. The chief advised her to return to Pueblo.

RAW FROM FEET TO SHOULDERS

With Eczema—When Indoors, Itching Was Fearful—Prescription Did No Good—Followed Friend's Advice and Found Speedy Relief.

A PERFECT CURE BY USE OF CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I was raw from my shoulders down to my feet, and soon as I went into warm room I could not stand the itching sensation. I tried several remedies with no relief, and I consulted a doctor who told me I had a severe case and gave me a box of ointment. I used it about two weeks and got no benefit. I then tried another ointment with the same result. Then I was advised to try the Cuticura Remedies. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and commenced to use them. By the time I had used about half of each of them I could see an improvement. After that I continued to use them until I had used four cakes of Soap, three large boxes of Ointment, and two large bottles of Resolvent in four or five weeks' time. At the end of this period, my skin was as clear as it could be. It is now three or four years since I used them and I wish to state that the Cuticura Remedies are the greatest in the world not only for curing the worst forms of itching, but for curing the female troubles, from which my wife has been a sufferer for years. Cuticura Remedies, used in connection with one of the Cuticura Resolvents, have done wonders for her. I am E. Baker, 14 Grotto St., Watervliet, N. Y., Nov. 30, '06, and Jan. 20, '07."

CUTICURA

The Great Skin Cure and Purest and Sweetest of Emollients.

A single anointing with Cuticura Ointment, preceded by a bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed in the evening by a dose of Cuticura Pills, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly humors, eczemas, rashes, and irritations, point rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure, in the majority of cases, when all else fails.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1907.

THE AWFUL PRICE OF SPEED.

THE automobile speed madness, on which we commented at length on the occasion of the recent accidents in Denver, has claimed another victim this time in Colorado Springs. Three dead, six injured, is the casualty list, and considering the frightful speed at which the machine was running and the nature of the accident, the only wonder is that any of the nine occupants escaped alive. It is a terrible price to pay for the temporary excitement of fast driving, but it has been exacted in the past in innumerable instances and it will continue to be exacted in the future until men learn that in the hands of a reckless driver the automobile is an instrument of deadly peril.

For the victims of this awful disaster and their bereaved families and friends The Gazette has only the deepest sympathy, but it is hard to find words of condemnation severe enough for the chauffeur whose carelessness caused the disaster. It seems to be pretty clearly established that this man Markshoffel is a speed lunatic of an extremely dangerous type, one of the wild-eyed variety who take a "smart feller's" delight in imperiling their own necks and those of everybody else concerned, either passenger or pedestrian. No man who possessed a shred of common sense would try to descend the Huerfano street hill at such a terrific speed as Markshoffel's machine was going when seen by Policeman Cornell. According to this officer the automobile was tearing along at a mile-a-minute rate, which would have been utterly useless on a straight level road and which on a sharp curve was sheer lunacy. By one of the strange caprices of fate Markshoffel escaped almost unscathed, but three other men paid for his criminal folly with their lives.

Of course no law has ever stringent could have prevented this disaster, but it is a sad commentary on the present condition of the law that laws to curb the speed mania are worthless. Every day the present ordinance is violated scores of times by drivers who apparently rely on their ability to get out of one locality and into another before being recognized by a policeman. It is high time for a sudden stop to be put to this reckless practice even if the police are compelled to adopt measures a good deal more stringent than have yet been suggested.

CASCADE AVENUE PARKING.

THE decision of the Council to establish a parking district on Cascade Avenue between Cache la Poudre Street and Platte Avenue is to be commended, though of course the action was a mere formality, the essential step toward accomplishing the object having been taken when the consent of the owners of most of the frontage was obtained. The new "park" district as now planned will extend for a distance of six blocks, and will take in the part of the street which is seen by the greatest number of visitors. In its present state it is very difficult to keep in repair because of its extreme width and also because of the difference in the elevation of the two sides, which at the intersection of Boulder Street amounts to about four feet. By parking in the middle this difficulty can easily be overcome, and lower Cascade Avenue will be converted into a place of beauty rivaling the upper part, work on which was completed several years ago.

It seems to us highly desirable that this work be continued farther south than Platte Avenue, at least to Bluff Street, and better still to Elvira, or even to a point midway between Elvira and Pike's Peak Avenue, about opposite the Solly building. There is slight probability that the portion of the street between this point and Platte Avenue will ever become a business section, and even if it should there would still be plenty of room for traffic even if the street were parked. At any rate, such a thing is not likely to come to pass within the next decade, and while the property owners of Cascade Avenue within the parking district it would be well for them to complete the improvement at one time.

This plan would add tremendously to the effectiveness of the general scheme for visitors arriving in the city at the Rio Grande station could not fail to be impressed by the splendid view of the magnificent Avenue, parted all the way to its northern extremity. Owners of Cascade Avenue property south of Platte Avenue have as much to gain by the enhancement of values due to parking as those whose property lies north of that point, and it should be no harder to gain consent in one case than in the other.

LIPSON TO TRY AGAIN.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON, the plucky Irish baronet whose name is known around the world as the biggest dealer in tea and the most persistent challenger for the America's Cup, has decided to try again. For the fourth and supposedly last time he will send the challenger to life what is probably the most coveted bit of silver in the world, and of course he will go back empty-handed. Sir Thomas knows as well as anybody, we are told, that the odds are all against him, but he is a sportsman who preceded him he has three dearly bought experiences of his own to prove that whoever says that an Englishman can wrest the America's Cup from the New York Yacht Club is a bad joke.

But Sir Thomas is a lover of sport, one of the sportsman kind that can get almost as much fun out of defeat as out of victory. He will enter the contest, no doubt, with the best and fastest yacht that has ever been turned out of an English shipyard, making allowance of course for the rules which provide that a challenger must be able to cross the ocean under her own sail, and he will probably enter it with an unshakable conviction that he is predestined to lose. But at the rate he will go through the whole affair with the spirit of a true sportsman, and if defeat again perches upon his banners there will be none of the unpleasant whining and charges of unfairness that spoiled the last visit of Lord Dunsany with his Valkyrie III a dozen years ago.

Whether it is due to the superiority of American shipbuilders and American skippers or to the apparent impossibility of constructing a winning challenger capable of crossing the ocean under her own sail, the fact remains that no English yacht has won the America's Cup in the fifty-five years or more since that precious bit of silver was captured in the English Channel by the Yankee craft whose name it now bears. Millions of dollars have been spent by members of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club in the attempt and other millions by the New York Yacht Club for defense, and it has been so long since the fact that the contesting nations almost justified that Englishmen had given up all hope of success. But Sir Thomas is a sportsman of the never-say-die type, and though thrice defeated he is still willing to risk another hundred thousand dollars or so in a fourth venture. Americans will wish him all the luck in the world, barring of course the only kind that would do him any good—the kind that would win the race.

FROM OTHER PENS.

MILITONAIRES.
From the Indianapolis News.
Mr. Taft may think there are too many millionaires, but nearly everybody else thinks that the number is at least one shy.

HEROES IN PEACE.
From the Philadelphia Inquirer.
The officers and men of the battleship Indiana who fought in great danger, removed from overhated chambers, are as much heroes as if they had been under fire from the enemy. Possibly they are greater heroes. In the face of the enemy, patriotism and a certain savagery that is in man spur individuals on to great deeds even if there is no particular hope of glory, which is sometimes an incentive. But to take life in hand in peaceful days of peace and descend into what seems a death chamber is a kind of heroism that is more often performed than is generally known and is seldom rewarded.

THE FINANCES OF JAPAN.
From the New York Evening Post.
The present conditions of the money market of the world will prevent Japan from realizing her hope of issuing a refunding loan under favorable conditions in the near future. In the active market for stocks and bonds which followed the flush of Japan's war, the hope was entertained that all the war debt could be refunded at a 4 per cent. and at a price near par. The first refunding loan was well taken, but quotations have declined to about 85, and the recent failure to float a small amount for the Manchurian railways is a warning that in the way of refunding nothing more can be done at present. The heavy interest charges imposed by the necessities of the war must continue to be borne by the Japanese people for some time to come.

DEVELOPMENT OF NAVIGATION.
From the New York Herald.
The arrival in this port of the royal mail steamer Lusitania, marks an extraordinary advance in the achievements of sustained high sea navigation. Many elements have contributed to this result. The most important of these are the ship's supremacy in displacement, the utilization of the most powerful sea turbines yet installed, and the realization of a speed that surpasses by a fine margin any yet achieved in continuing long distance voyage. Not less notable, perhaps in its influence on the commerce of the world is the simultaneous opening of the Ambrose channel—our port's new and deepest fairway—to the greatest water-borne vehicles that skill and enter have constructed or that for many years may test the imagination or enlist the ingenuity of the inventor. It is a happy augury of time and circumstance, that this achievement should be advanced enough to offer the Lusitania a free and safe passage to our welcoming harbor.

THE "YELLOW PERIL."
From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.
Our Canadian cousins across the border are in the midst of difficulties which, to say the least of them, may soon put an end to the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

That the situation is serious seems to admit of no question, according to the latest advices from British Columbia. Both Japanese and Chinamen are involved, and it is supposed to see these two peoples, lately at mortal enmity, pooling their issues against a common foe. It is indicative of their action in a larger sense when in some future year he need may arise. China and Japan will be allied for a war upon one or more of the white nations until their relations are established and settled. It is a happy augury of time and circumstance, that this achievement should be advanced enough to offer the Lusitania a free and safe passage to our welcoming harbor.

It is not worth while to close our eyes to the danger of such a contest. We have probably not reached the point when the trial of strength is near at hand, but in the natural order of things it is inevitable in the course of the years. Some way will be found to pacify the two elements at Vancouver and restore the peace, but let no one deceive himself in the thought, if the radical difference is now composed, that it is a lasting guaranty of interracial good.

SHR. IS STILL IN CONSTITUTION.
From the New York Evening Post.
The work of restoring the frigate Constitution is said to have been accomplished with exceptional success. But the exhibition of a ship substantially like the one on which Bainbridge fought has not apparently ended the controversy over the old bulk.

There are evidently two ways in which patriotic people can look at inspiring relics. Mr. Boney, partner, when secretary of the navy, saw no objection to using the old ship as a mark for target practice, though if she had been the original "Old Ironsides" he would doubtless have shared the reverence of the Bostonians. We think that to most people the fact that a vessel has always retained its name and individually, when though every separate bolt and timber has been replaced once or more is enough to carry on traditions glorious or inglorious. It is not always the authentic metal that is the most inspiring. The original Declaration of Independence is a sheet of blank parchment. Perry's unconquered flag, the Niagara, is, we believe, a knot of timbers discernible at the bottom of Lake Erie. But Hull and Stewart would recognize in the Constitution of 1907 the ship whose decks they once trod, and that ought to be enough to satisfy the fourth generation after them.

COMMON SENSE ON THE PHILIPPINE QUESTION.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.
For good, sound, common sense on the Philippine question nothing of recent publication has equaled the remarks which have just been made by Representative John A. T. Hull, of Iowa, the well-known and much-respected chairman of the House committee on military affairs. Mr. Hull looks the facts squarely in the face and discusses the situation in a thoroughly intelligent, logical, courageous, and practical manner. He does not indulge in the kind of sentimentalizing, too many public men when they express themselves upon this subject think it necessary or expedient to conceal their real opinions beneath a cloud of rhetoric and to profess to believe a great many things which in their hearts they don't believe at all.

They will say that the Philippines ought to have their independence, when they know very well that to give it to them would be a crime, or they will tell their hearers that they favor the withdrawal of the United States from the archipelago, not as soon as the political education of its inhabitants is far enough advanced, with an intimation that this will not be a great while, when their secret conviction is that the Philippines will be fit for self-government in a hundred years and that this country will never give the islands up. Mr. Hull is different. He is frank and candid and straight forward. He says what he thinks without caring too much whether those whom he addresses like it or not.

As we are not going to sell the Philippines, what's the use of talking about it? he argues. It's a pity we have them, and they are going to give us lots of trouble, but we must simply face the music and do the best we can. By degrees an intelligent, self-respecting community will be brought into existence, and in order that this process may be hastened American citizens should be encouraged to settle out there, and they should be encouraged to invest their money in developing the resources of the country. At present not only is no incentive furnished them, but they are discriminated against in a way that is absurd in principle and most unfortunate in practice. The islands ought to have free trade and be effectively opened to American exploitation.

Above anything else a stop should be put to "this infernal talk about self-government. We must put an end to stimulating these half-civilized people with the idea that they are fit to govern themselves. We are going to keep them and some day if they are fit to govern themselves they will have a government like our other territories. They will not be fit for this for 50 years and in the meantime we must stop this independence talk among the people over there." These are Representative Hull's sentiments and they will impress headed people as just about right. Some one ought to send a copy of what Mr. Hull said to Secretary Taft. He is going to the Philippines to do some talking and he is such a genial optimistic person that he is often inclined to be more encouraging than the truth warrants. It is to be hoped that he will be careful about what he tells his Filipino friends.

Today's Horoscope.

Wednesday, September 18, 1907.
Science this day will guide your steps aright: And fortune smiles on words you may indite.

The 21st day of the year; moon's age, 11 days. Moon is in perigee this day, and Jupiter rises in the first hour of tomorrow; Uranus is stationary in the zodiac; Mercury is in benefic aspect with the moon.

Best advice today from those who are in the field, chemistry and electricity are under favorable stars. If you have pressing business a-foot, use the telephone or telegraph today instead of the mails.

For ordinary business, however, letters will answer well, for the aspect of the planets favors writings. There is luck attached to all work of the pen this day, whether business or social correspondence, literary work or legal documents.

An excellent day to hire workmen of all kinds. Lucky for sending children to new schools. Good for starting on journeys long of short, but beware of leaving something needful behind.

The opposition of the sun in Virgo with Saturn in Pisces threatens ill-fortune. During the coming days the sun is menaced by treachery from subjects and covetous governments. Before the moon dies, floods and earthquakes may be apprehended in the east of Europe.

Those whose birthdate this day are threatened with illness due to overindulgence during the next four months. They may have losses in business, but the winter will bring them profits to balance it, if they keep a stout heart.

The child born today will be as quick and clever as the sun, and will have a powerful and neglect study and business. This tendency means an unfortunate career if not checked. It should be led in youth to study the history of men who have achieved success by application in the face of adverse circumstances. If a girl, she must beware of an unfortunate marriage.

NEAP TO NATURE.

From the Telluride (Colo.) Journal.
Two members of the Ancient Order, who are licensed to lie from day to day until further notice, have been digging worms and chasing grasshoppers this forenoon. Trout lake is still there, calm and serene. No, you are not compelled to go through Ophir Loop (?) to reach the fish pond.

HALCYON DAYS FOR THE EPICURIAN.

From the Greeley (Colo.) Sun.
The Sun acknowledges an invitation to look upon the Longmont races and eat pumpkin pie with the good people of that lively town next week. About your free lunch counters or the free house in the city slum. They are going in with the free seeds one can get in the towns of northern Colorado. Loveland's corn feed was enough to give a man the gout. It would seem proper to close the feast with pie.

WEATHER ITEM.

From the Morris (Ill.) Index.
Gloomy clouds cover the sky, but what does it matter? Let's think of the golden autumn, when golden rods line the tortuous lanes, rumac flash flame on the hillsides, and Rock river, like a yellowish silver thread, pursues her majestic course to the Father of Waters, while we put out fish by the ton. But, oh, mercy, here it's raining again, which is no dream.

SHOCK FOR THE REPORTER.

From the Atchison (Kan.) Globe.
This reporter had nothing very unusual happen to him this morning. A very pretty girl approached him and said: "You—remember you called me up some time ago and asked me about my engagement." The reporter replied very meekly that he had. "Well, I will be prepared to give it to you in two weeks," The reporter faints.

WHAT HAPPENED TO BILL.

From the Santa Constitution.
Billie's change of girls is this interesting and suggestive news item.
"A young lady, who does live far from this town, says:
"Bill wrote me a letter and said he was going to kill me. I wouldn't marry him, but I met him in the big road and his hand with the head, with a fence rail, and the last I heard of him, he was slowly coming back to his senses."

"The Mystery"

By Steward Edward White and Samuel Hopkins Adams.
Copyright 1907 by McClure, Phillips & Co., New York. Published by permission.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

"The United States cruiser Wolverine, in an unexplained part of the Pacific, is looking up details of a strange ghost ship, such as the cruiser's officers have never before seen, flares upon the horizon. The compass begins to behave queerly. No one aboard the Wolverine can determine the nature of the light, not even whether it is stationary or moving. The officers fall to discussing the mystery. Billy Edwards, ensign, tells of a schooner, the Laughing Lass, which two years before was chartered by Dr. Schermerhorn, a scientist, for a cruise among the Pacific Islands. Schermerhorn made a secret of his exact destination. His principal luggage was a huge brass-bound chest, Ralph Ladd, a newspaper man, accompanied the expedition. The fate of the Laughing Lass is unknown. On the morning after Edwards' recall a schooner is sighted three miles to windward, looking in an eccentric fashion.

CHAPTER II.

THE LAUGHING LASS.
"Mighty queer tactics," muttered Edwards. "I think she's steering herself."

"Good thing she carries a weather helm," commented Ladd, who was an expert on sailing rigs. "Most of that type do. Otherwise she'd have fished her masts out, running before the wind."

Captain Parkinson appeared on deck and turned his glasses for a full minute on the strange schooner.

"Aloft there!" he hailed the crew's head. "Do you make out any one aboard?"

"No, sir," came the answer.

"Mr. Carter, have the chief quartermaster report on deck with the signal flags."

"Aren't we going to run up to her?" asked McGuire, turning in surprise to Edwards.

"And take the risk of getting a hole punched in our pretty paint with her running amuck that way? Not much!"

"Up came the signal quartermaster to get his orders, and there ensued a one-sided conversation in the pregnant language of the sea."

"What ship is that?"

"No answer."

"Are you in trouble?" asked the cruiser, and waited. The schooner showed a bare and silent mainmast.

"Heave to," said Uncle Sam, giving orders.

But the other paid no heed.

And a Shot Went Across Her Bow.

"We'll make that a little more enigmatic," said Captain Parkinson. A moment later there was the sharp crash of a gun and a shot went across the bow of the schooner.

by a flaw of wind that veered from the normal direction of the breeze, the stranger made, sharply to windward, as if to obey.

"Ah, there she comes!" ran the comment along the cruiser's quarter-deck.

But the schooner, after standing for a moment, all flapping, answered another flail and went wide about on the opposite tack.

"Derelict!" remarked Captain Parkinson. "She seems to be in good shape, too, Dr. Trendon."

"Yes, sir." The surgeon went to the captain, and the others could hear his deep, abrupt utterance in reply to some question too low for their ears.

"Might he, sir, maybe. More likely shallop, if anything of that kind. But some of 'em would be on deck."

"When?" A plume ship, said Billy Edwards. "Just my luck to be ordered to board her." He shivered slightly.

They were now within a mile of the schooner. Edwards scrutinized her calculatingly.

THE Captain Himself Makes an Investigation.
"Dr. Trendon," said the captain, appearing. "You will please go with me to the schooner."
"Yes, sir," said the surgeon, rising from his chair with such alacrity as to draw from Ladd the sardonic comment: "Why, I actually believe old Trendon is excited."
For two hours after the departure of the captain and Trendon there were no times on the quarter deck of the Wolverine. Then the surgeon came back to them.

"Billy was right," he said. "Not a living being aboard. Neither human nor other," pursued Trendon.

"Food scattered around the galley. Crumbs on the mess table. Ever see a wooden ship without cockroaches?"

"Never particularly investigated the matter."

"Don't believe such a thing exists," said Ladd.

"Not a cockroach on the Laughing Lass. Ever know of an old hooker that wasn't overrun with rats?"

"No, nor anyone else. Not above water."

"Found a dozen dead rats. No sound or sign of a live one on the Laughing Lass. No rats, no mice, no bugs. Gentlemen, the Laughing Lass is a charnel ship."

"No wonder Billy's tender nerves went wrong," said Ladd, with a shudder. "That's probably haunted by cockroach wraiths."

"Sing out if the Goblins Get Yer."

"Hell have a chance to see," said Trendon. "Captain's going to put him in charge."

"By way of apology, then," said Barnett. "That's pretty square."

"Captain Parkinson wishes to see you in his cabin, Mr. Edwards," said an orderly, coming in.

"A pleasant voyage, Captain Billy," said Ladd. "Sing out if the goblins get yer."

BIG SUGAR FACTORY OPERATING ARE STUDYING TUBERCULOSIS

Grand Junction Plant to Have Record Month—Will Operate Two Months Longer Than Usual.

The big sugar factory at Grand Junction, owned and operated by the Western Sugar and Land company, an organization made up of Colorado Springs men, has just been started for the season. R. P. Davis, of this city, who is president of the company, has returned from the company's property in Mesa, Ariz., and reports everything running smoothly at the big mill. J. R. McKinnon, also of Colorado Springs, is secretary-treasurer of the company, which has 6,000 acres under cultivation. The company owns 5,500 acres and leases over a thousand acres more.

The beet production from the company's land amounts to 10 per cent of sugar, the highest grade of any in the state, except those grown at Sugar City. The mill is now treating 900 tons of beets a day, and so smoothly did everything work at the factory when started, that it produced its full capacity the first hour. Fifteen hundred bags of sugar are turned out every day, making a total daily value of $7,500. The mill, which employs over 200 men, was started this year a month earlier than usual, and will run a month later, until March of next year.

Factory hands receive nearly $200,000 during the season, and $400,000 is paid to farmers for their beets. For coal, limberock, bags, etc., over $200,000 is expended annually. There is a capital of $1,200,000 invested in the enterprise.

AUTUMN OPENING AT HIBBARDS

"At Home" Day at the Big Daylight Store—Music Afternoon and Evening.

This is "At Home" day at the Hibbard Daylight store, being their first autumnal garment and millinery opening for the season of 1907. It will be a splendid opportunity for seeing the latest styles and all visitors will receive a cordial welcome. Music, afternoon and evening, by famous orchestra will enliven the pleasant occasion.

Palms, backets and trillies, of autumn leaves and great bouquets, embellished with their leaves and blossoms, will be seen in the appropriate decorations. Special attention has been given to the window displays, one window being devoted to an exquisite showing of the new millinery, while the other is most attractive with the latest garment styles.

Within the store has been transformed into a scene of beauty, suggestive of the season being celebrated in evidence. The new styles are both bewitching and exclusive, the garment styles being notably different from those of a year ago. Two important features predominate—the American tailor-made and the new French styles. In both there are novelty points and a diversity of fashion frocks shown for the first time this season.

Tailor-Made Suits.

The new feature of the tailor-made suit is the increased length of the coat and the long sleeves. There are many novelties, rational modifications and practical adaptations of European ideas. Seamless and tight-fitting jackets and coat suits will take the lead. In jackets and coats ranging from 37 to 44 inches long. The skirts are made very full, with box plait, folds, horizontal tucks and tailor strapings. The materials used are mostly on the masculine order—tailor suitings, broadcloths, mixtures, velvets, chevrons, panamas, serges, mohairs, etc. Novelty buttons and fancy tailor braids are largely used as trimmings. The fall colors are navy and marine blue, browns in medium and dark casts and green in myrtle and brack effects, including water green.

Big Hats Are Popular.

The coming season is to be decidedly one of large hats of various shapes and styles. Conspicuous are the Gainsborough, Rembrandt picture and cavalier hat, turned up on one side, and the mushroom and voluminous bell-shaped hats, with drooping or dish brims.

In the smaller shapes will be new touches, coquettish marquis shapes, of the Louis XVI. time and others with cylinder or conical crowns.

The materials most in vogue for hat-making will be felt, Paon velvet, and heavy ottoman silks combined with velvet. The trimmings will include ostrich plumes, large wings, bird breasts, long coque feathers with flowing ends, coque pompons, large taffeta roses in black and colors, autumn foliage, Japanese embroidered bands, falls and ostrich ribbons, fancy pins, buckles and ornaments.

The leading autumn millinery colors are navy blue, Copenhagen blues, browns of the richest, darker tones, bishop, purples, bronze and myrtle green, and reds in the dark tones, including claret color.

Founder of Colorado Springs Will Quietly Celebrate Birthday Anniversary at Home.

General William J. Palmer is 71 years old today. The founder of Colorado Springs was born in Kent county, Del., August, September 18, 1836. Each birthday anniversary since his residence in this section has been the occasion of numerous congratulations from a host of friends.

The general will probably spend the day quietly at his home in Glen Elgin.

TESTIMONIAL TO PERSINGER

Great Master of Violin Commands Colorado Springs Boy.

The following testimonial from E. Persinger, one of the greatest, if not the greatest, violinists in the world, honoring his pupil, Louis Persinger, the young musician of this city, shows the esteem in which the Colorado Springs artist is held by the world's greatest masters. Mr. Persinger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Persinger of this city. He has completed his studies and is now located permanently in Berlin, Germany.

Following is the testimonial:

La Chantrelle, Godine S. M. (Belgique), Aug. 19, 1907.

I certify that Mr. Louis Persinger has worked, during two years under my direction, and that it was a veritable pleasure for me to develop the artistic qualities and natural capacities which he possesses.

"Mr. Louis Persinger is today a virtuoso of a superior order, and I could say in all sincerity that he is one of my very best pupils; an excellent musician, loving his art, Persinger can aspire to a fine career. In instruction he will do wonders, and as a soloist he will hold a high position. I can only very warmly recommend this sincere talent to all who interest themselves in the art of the violin. They will find in Persinger at the same time a profound artistic genuineness, the most distinguished character, as also perseverance."

FRESHMEN WIN ANNUAL SCRAP

The third annual flag scrap between the freshmen and sophomore members at Colorado college, which possession of the flag pole in front of the main building signifies victory, was held at 12 minutes of 12 o'clock, the contest was finally decided in favor of the freshmen. The sophomores were very evenly matched, the freshmen having about 75 men while the sophomores had about 60, but somewhat heavier men in the "scrap."

The fun began about 11 o'clock Monday, when several sophomores were taken by a crowd of freshmen and carried south of Colorado Springs, where they were tied and left for several hours. In the meantime the freshmen hoisted their flag on the pole in front of the main building and left a strong guard to watch it. The sophomores soon gathered, their forces and prepared for the contest, which commenced at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon under the personal supervision of the class officers, Dr. F. C. Hills for the freshmen and E. J. Schneider for the sophomores, and the members of the two upper classes. It was agreed between the two sides that the contest should last 45 minutes, and if the flag was still in the possession of the freshmen that the "script" should be decided in their favor.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the sophomores made a rush for the pole and tried to force their way through the freshmen guard. Back of the sophomore crowd was wearing a pair of climbing spikes and almost succeeded in gaining a foothold on the pole when he was torn away. For just exactly 45 minutes the "script" was waged between the enthusiastic combatants, the contest being decided in favor of the lower class.

The contest was the most enthusiastic ever held between classes at Colorado college. The struggle was rough, but there was no shoving or choking and the whole affair was carefully watched by the class officers and upper classmen in order to prevent any foul play. No hard feeling exists between the members of the two classes.

A SPLENDID SHOWING RECOVERING STRENGTH

HED BIRD HAS RICH VEIN AT 250 FEET. STOCKS ARE FIRMER THAN FOR WEEKS PAST.

Ore With Picture Values Exposed by Lessees Harris and Sutton. Discovery of Sham in Illness of Rogers Gives Confidence to Speculators.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 17.—Harris and Sutton, who have been working a lease for several months on the Red Bird claim of the National Tunnel, Mines and Land company, have a splendid showing at a depth of 250 feet. A vein that is fully five feet wide has been exposed and some dead work is now being done to open up the shoot. An upraise is being driven and a connection will be made, which will allow of the strictest economy in the mining of the ore when the lessees finish the necessary development work.

There is a small streak in the main ore shoot which carries a large quantity of silvianite and picture values. The ore will probably run clear across the entire vein at the rate of $50 in gold to the ton. Meers, Harris and Sutton started in this property, which had not been operated for several years on a small scale. The advance at starting was extremely low, but after some work had been done the vein opened up and the values increased gradually from $8 to $16 to $25, and now $50 values are obtainable on assay sheets.

"Some little ore is being saved and the lessees will probably be in shape to begin making regular shipments about the first day of October, when they will have considerable ore in sight and will be able to maintain continuous shipments for an indefinite period."

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Stocks had a good recovery today and the vigorous upward movement was in face of some unfavorable factors, or rather of realization of some unfavorable happenings that had been previously acted upon in the market. The reverse movement of prices usual on such occasions was responsible in no small part for the brisk recovery of the day. Operators in stocks were very busy discussing the termination of the proceedings in the government suit against the Standard Oil company, but it was evident that the long course of preparations for this occurrence had exhausted the requirements of the market.

The game was true of the disclosure in sworn testimony in court of the precarious state of health of a foremost capitalist in the copper industry, that person's serious illness having been reported and exaggerated to the point of an alleged fatal termination many times in the course of the recent bear campaign. The facts as now learned were given a large interpretation in the whole course of the market in July and August. The market, in short, gave evidence of being over sold. A confirmation of this was seen in the lowering rates for stocks, some of which having commanded a small premium in the loan crowd. This fact was only accepted for its true value today after prices turned upwards, as it is a favorable device in a liquidating market to borrow stocks for delivery to avoid the transfer of holdings in the name of influential holders and give the appearance at the same time of a short interest in the market.

The bears have ignored the significance of the demand in the loan crowd so long as they have weak spots in metal securities to help in forcing prices downward. With relief today for that weak spot the influence of the strength for several days manifest in the railroad group asserted itself on the whole.

materials had the benefit of a violent bound in the price of copper in London today, spot copper rising there 3 pence, 12 shillings and 6 pence per

York metal exchange of 44 cent per pound. Sentiment over the situation in the metal market was appreciably improved, nevertheless, the 34 cent premium on exchange was still a factor in the sentiment, and it was felt that the level now effectively demanded was being approached which gave promise that the market would right itself.

The views publicly expressed by the chairman of some United States Steel directors gave the feeling of assurance that the market for copper had advanced not forestadow a similar course for iron and steel of not in the same degree. With the market relieved from the dragging effect of the persistent weakness in the metal markets, the market for copper formerly existing asserted themselves on the side of strength in the market. The conspicuous strength of the Hg stocks is evidently due to assumptions of a benefit to result from the higher holders. Union Pacific stated in its movement, although in a lesser degree. Money on call here continued firm and there was a stronger tone in the time loan market.
